The key to effectively representing ratepayers on council is to make decisions based on their best interests.

This has never been more important than now, as we negotiate our way out of coal-related industries and seek out opportunities in a changing landscape.

Over the past 8 years I have tried to reflect the needs and wants of my community.

I have not been afraid to ask questions and have put an emphasis on being prudent in all areas of expenditure. I have also been mindful of the escalating costs being faced by electors, particularly since the Covid years.

In the past couple of years I have been on the audit and tourism advisory committees and chaired the heated pool working group.

As a long term local resident I am well placed to represent you and your interests.

In addition to council, I am actively involved in a number of community and sporting groups, including the Coalfields Museum and Collie Golf Club.

My business background and a desire to see Collie be the best it can be drives me.
